NACT Festival March 16-20

The Lofte is proud to announce that it has been selected as host site for the 2011 Nebraska Association of Community Theatre's Festival competition. There will be a total of ten community theaters from across the states of Nebraska and Missouri competing in a one-act play competition. This marks the largest number of registered participants in recent years. Winners earn the opportunity to advance to the American Association of Community Theaters Region V competition in Salina, Kansas in April.

The NACT was founded in 1966 and is dedicated to the growth and development of community theaters throughout Nebraska. The organization holds an annual conference at rotating locations across the state. Every other year, they hold a festival competition in addition to their business meetings and workshops. 2011 marks the first year that the Lofte Theatre has been selected as a festival site.

The state of Missouri has a similar organization, MoACT, but they were unable to organize their own festival activities this year. When NACT extended an invitation to some of the Missouri theaters to join in the fun, several accepted the offer with enthusiasm.

Closed rehearsals will be held at the Lofte on March 16 & 17. Performances begin at 6pm on Friday, March 18. All performances are open to the public. Admission is $10 per person, per day. Therefore, for a cost of $10, an individual can choose to see just one performance or stay for the entire day! On-site concessions will be available during the course of the competition.

Below is a complete performance schedule. Please note that performance times are not exact and may change as the days progress. To avoid distractions, no one will be allowed into the auditorium while a play is in progress.

We encourage everyone to come out and support the Lofte as well as these other influential community theaters.
